COVID 19 Precautionary Measures

Although COVID 19 is controlled in Sri Lanka, the global epidemic continues to grow. Therefore, there is a considerable risk of COVID 19 being spread by seafarers unless precautionary measures are taken to mitigate this risk. These precautionary measures must be a collective effort from all stakeholders. We appreciate your support in strictly adhering to the guidelines stipulated below in order to minimize the risk of the spread of the virus.

Safety measures to be followed,

1. All communications with the vessel crew should be done through the vessel agent. Service providers should not directly communicate with the vessel crew.
2. Do not exchange any documents between any parties. Strictly use electronic communication methods to exchange documents between all parties.
 - a. Vessel agents and the vessel crew should not handover any hardcopies of documents to HIP staff or any service providers. All documents should be scanned and e-mailed to the respective personnel.
